19/2
17:00 i 19:00 h *“The USA: A Melting Pot, or a Pot of Stew?” – Jim McCullough
The different ethnic groups in the US have had a great impact on US society, on aspects such as food, customs, traditions, music, language, show business, sports, politics, and history.*

17:00 i 19:00 h *“Eat Run LoveNYC” – Anna Rodon
After having taken up running by accident when I was in my late 20s and living in New York, 10 years, 5 marathons and countless other smaller races later I am a middle-of-the pack runner who loves how running has improved her fitness levels, brought about friendships, opportunities for volunteering, appreciation for food and a different way of experiencing cities.*

17:00 i 19:00 h *“Travelling through West Africa” – Nonna van der Merwe
Join me on an adventure of a lifetime, as I tell you about a 4x4 family trip we took through western Africa in 2007. Starting in Windhoek (capital city of Namibia) and ending in Dakar (capital city of Senegal), I'll tell you about the route we took, the roads and weather we had to endure, the people we encountered and the life changing memories made.*

17:00 i 19:00 h *“The Myth of Canadian Exceptionalism” – Rachel Finch
Since the 1960s, Canada has maintained a carefully crafted reputation for being multicultural, politically correct, and peaceful in its foreign policy. However, there are issues within the Canadian political and social sphere that challenge this image. This presentation will discuss these issues, specifically the tense relationship between the Canadian government and Canada's indigenous population.*

Les conferències tindran lloc a LA CÚPULA (C/ Pere Alsius, 12, 3a)
